Population, Birth, and Full-Time Equivalent Enrollment (FTE) Data

In the charts to the right, the School Age Population and Total FTE data for the last five years are presented. The data shows a slight increase in the population over the years, with the total FTE also showing a similar trend. The Kindergarten: Births and FTE data is depicted on the right, indicating a significant rise in both kind.

School Choice Data

The pie chart on the left illustrates the distribution of Local FTE across different districts. It shows a significant enrollment in the Local District, followed by FL Virtual School, Other District, and University Lab School. The bar chart on the right compares the K-12 Scholarship Enrollment for the past three years, with a notable increase in Florida Tax Credit and FES-EO scholarship programs.

Commuting and Migration Data

The pie chart on the left demonstrates the FTE commuting patterns, with a significant number of students commuting from other districts. The chart on the right depicts the workforce commuting patterns, showing a majority of the workforce employed in the county.

Non-Public School Enrollment

The bar chart on the right shows the Non-Public School Enrollment for the past five years, with a noticeable growth in the number of students.
