* Identical bill also requested to be heard in Criminal Justice Impact Conference

<sup>2</sup> CS/HB 287 was substantially different than HB 287. There would be no impact of the bill.

<sup>3</sup> CS/HB 783 was substantially different than HB 783. Although the impact would still be negative indeterminate, the removal of children under 13, rather than children under 14, from all adult court proceedings would reduce the estimated bed impact for this particular section of the bill.

<sup>5</sup> CS/SB 1082 was substantially different than SB 1082. While it is not possible to determine the impact of the bill as passed, it is very unlikely that the savings associated with SB 1082 will be realized.

<sup>6</sup> CS/HB 7063 included an amendment where each act of transmitting child pornography would be separate offense. It is unknown how this would further impact sentencing, but it would not change the proposed impact.

<sup>7</sup> CS/CS/HB 463 was substantially different than CS/HB 463. There would be no impact of the bill.

<sup>8</sup> CS/CS/HB 7131 was substantially different than PCB CRJS 15-07. While it is not possible to determine the impact of the bill, it is likely that county jails contracting with DOC will send fewer offenders with less than two year sentences to prison.
